DISTINGUISHED VISITOR

Mr. M. C. Frowde, the collector of Mr. John Lewis, in the management of the English tour of Australia, was born at Devonport, played the Rugby game early in his youth at Exeter, but turned to Soccer, and joined a club named Carlton Oaks. After becoming the honorary secretary of Weymouth St. James, he played in Devon, and helped in the conduct of the game by the Devon Association.

In 1889 he removed to Weymouth, and has resided there since, occupying an important managerial position with Carlton and Company, who own the funnel line of pleasure and steamers. One of the founders of the Weymouth club, he has been most active in developing dribbling code throughout Devon.

As a player, club official, and referee, he has never spared himself. After becoming honorary secretary of the Dorset Association he established a local league.

Since 1895 Mr. Frowde has been a magistrate for Weymouth and in October, 1921, he was presented with the long service medal. As a man who has played football, cricket, hockey, and other games, for the pleasure and the profit that they give to the amateur he has been a conscientious worker for healthy pastimes.

The Bright Future of Soccer

Should the controllers of soccer in the metropolis plan for future seasons? To have the interests of the game at heart, the answer must be in the affirmative. During the last couple of seasons the management of the game has been thoroughly sound. Those entrusted with the administration of the code are unquestionable able-bodied propagandists by example, showing the ramifications of the game into districts hitherto unexploited.

The inevitable result is that there is an excessive number of clubs aspiring to premier honours, and it is regrettable that the demands of the game cannot be acceded to. It is readily recognised that centralisation is essential to ensure the future of the game. The ideal of progressive minds, with a broad view of the future, is that there must be sufficiently financial to offer incentives to athletes to adopt soccer game as their winter time. It is within the grasp of attainment that the First Grade Clubs acquire playing areas in their own district, so that the game will not be compelled to expend an unduly proportion of its income in paying high fees to ground owners in close proximity to the city.

For too many years have the clubs been kept in penury owing to this disability. With a proper spirit of compromise it should be possible for a mutually satisfactory arrangement to be arrived at with suburban proprietors until the clubs are in a position to shift for themselves. The matter cannot be pigeon-holed indefinitely. Clubs must be galvanized into action to ensure that our playing areas are secure for seasons ahead.

Football is a tremendously strenuous game, demanding the highest pitch of physical fitness, which is attainable only by careful preparation in the most favorable environment. It is thus incumbent on club officials to see to it that the playing arenas are in good condition, so that players will have every possible assistance in staging bright, breezy exhibitions of a game which can hold enthralled the brightest intellects of the universe.

The proportionately big sums of money collected at the various suburban grounds make it possible for clubs and ground proprietors to co-ordinate their efforts on improvement of playing swards and at the same time to cater for the comfort of patrons by providing seating accommodation and protection from the weather. To those enthusiasts who have invested their capital in providing grounds for the use of clubs, the game is greatly indebted, and all that is wanted is a spirit of fair play and common sense when the matter of fixing an equitable ground rent is under discussion. Otherwise dangerous developments are certain, and the inevitable result will be detrimental to the future of the clubs vitally concerned.

TRUE SPIRIT OF SPORT.

(By Old Player.)

Off we go, and the best of luck. "Go straight" is my motto, to clubs, players, and spectators. Is there a brighter road than the straight road? I don't know one, and the writer says to the football species: Let us have another season of fine out-door sport. Let us learn to lose with a smile, and to congratulate the winner, though our record for the day shows a defeat. Let us bear with each other, and keep control of our feelings. Last season's standard of football and of good feeling, was very high indeed.

Remember the number of players all round the State, it is amazing that there should have been so few cases of foul play. Everyone was delighted with it, and I hope players and spectators will go a stage even higher up the ladder this season.

Spectators Must Set an Example.

"Spectators can make or mar a game. They can by encouragement of clean play, make for clean play, and they should for players and their own sake, encourage a good clean play, and condemn all others. Only by those means can we get the best of football year by year.

"I wish all clubs freedom from fouls, and accidents, was the words of the chairman of a P. and D. Committee." After having heard his remarks, and duly noted them, I went to a referee who said, "The world is all wrong." We even find in cricket nowadays, that the hooligan spirit has got into the heart of all games. It is due to the fact that controllers do not have a firm hand, and, more than all, to the fact that referees do not get their verdicts accepted loyally.

He went on in this strangely free but wise way. "You see it in every sports corner. The contestants get busy with their work. The verdict is given. There is a row. Somebody has disagreed with the referee's rulings. There always will be disagreements with rulings, but there is something more—there is the loyalty by which you disagree, but do not make complaints that the referee has robbed your side of the win.

Referee's Decision Final.

Two men came to me recently and said that they wanted to know my verdict about a certain decision. I said, "there can be no argument about the decision—the referee has given it, and that ends it." They went on to say that they wanted to settle the argument they had had over the referee's decision, but I was firm. I could see the drift of the scheme. They wanted me to settle their argument. I replied again, "There is no argument about it. The referee is the sole judge, and he has given his verdict."

Now, that is the only loyal way with sporting governors, you must have loyalty to the man who is best fitted to judge. I admit that mistakes will arise, but the first principle of sporting interest is to allow that the practical man "in the middle" has the better view, and probably has seen more than you have. At any rate, he is a man who has no axe to grind, and therefore one must give him the credit of being at least honest in his convictions.

Player Ignorant of New Rule.

We all differ on football topics. There is no game under the sun that produces so many ifs and buts and arguments. Do you know that only last week a player who has been hibernating in the way back, was caught napping. He was a spectator at one of the matches last week, and was barking for his club. On a corner kick being taken, and the ball going towards the goalkeeper's hands, he shouted "Let it go, let it go!" He took a lot of convincing that it was not possible to score from a corner kick—until this season's change of rules.

It is inconceivable that any player should not be au fait with every trend of talk and every change of rule. Yet here is a first grade player who, in the year of grace, 1925, does not know that you can score from a corner kick. Yet on the other hand, it is easy to see how this solitary incident could arise.

It appears that the player went into the wilds for the purpose of never getting a football "chord." He succeeded so well that he did not know of the most important change of rules.

To show how varied and multiple are the ways and arguments of footballers, I have only known the diametrically opposite views of two players, both first flight of footballers.

Of Interest to Young Players.

This was the discussion. "Should a player be kept in the junior a matter of a training course, it be known that this player is playing good football, and his age is only just sixteen, keep him from getting a head? Should that period be an apprenticeship period? Or 'I spent a few years in the reserve side, and I know what it means. Some say you get a bit, but it is good discipline, good training, and I am was not rushed into the top side when I was very young otherwise I might have swelling thereon, and new up to the top class. I am youngsters who are rushing the top side have only a bad patch and be dropped them, to become in the known as the one flash tribe is an extensive one, I believe that the rushed falls flat after having the grade stuff never comes, have known a number of bear out my contention, the other's verdict. In perhaps, you're right, but I have a different idea, we always put a good player into the first team, and there, for we believe there is no experience like that a boy gets from seniors, a lad comes on the quick, he is working among the term as first graders. He to work hard and to learn. Here it is, it is better to get a boy into the society rather than let himself."

Thus arguments arise, no forrader, but we have scheme things for the

IMPRESSIONS OF SOCCER.

Rugby League Convert.)

I have followed Rugby League for a number of years, and then, with the desire to find something more exciting, I turn to the other codes, and finally to settle on Soccer as "the game," is my experience. It seemed at first to be rather tame, but on getting to understand the various moves of the game, something more exhilarating than any other winter pastime was discovered.

Soccer is more thrilling than to throw the ball passed along a line of players forwards, past opposition backs, and then the excitement of the ball rebounding into play returned by an ever-alert goalkeeper?

There is no doubt it is fascinating for the eye to see a line of players dodging in and out, or a player pulled down by about a dozen opposition forwards. But is it science? Is it science? I have the answer to the reader's question.

Soccer is more scientific than, say, the ball at toe, to skilfully use the sphere from one wing to the other, outwitting opposition in an endeavour to find a weak spot in the opposition's defence and to play accordingly.

In fact, perhaps, is the game worth the name of "dash" in it, but it does not spell science.

And here is the game that draws the crowd, but will it hold them? That is the answer to the future.

It is disgusted with the official attitude of the League in withholding the name of the Sydney Cricket Ground from the Englishmen.

There are many of my pals.

Soccer possesses all the attributes which can fascinate and excite the sporting instinct of a man.

—dash, science, fleetness, stamina, prettily executed passing bouts, and without the development of the mind, as the game calls for quick action as well as physical fitness.

These are my impressions of Soccer being a keen League player for many years.

Let the public welcome the Englishmen at the Sydney Cricket Ground on Friday, May 29.

OUR FUTURE INTERNATIONALS.

This article deals with an aspect more important than any other section of the code—the game in the State Schools. If the average follower of the code was to be informed that Soccer is played in more schools in the city and suburban area than any other code of football he'd probably be sceptical. Rugby, League and Soccer are the only football codes played to a big extent, and this year, there are 88 schools playing Soccer, 85 Rugby League. Keep in mind that in these schools a big percentage plays both codes. In the primary schools each code has 52 nurseries, in the commercial and junior technical section each has 22, in the high and intermediate high Soccer has 14 Rugby League 11.

JOHN ELKES.

(Tottenham Hotspur.)

Rugby League has four grades in each of the two last-named classes of schools, two grades in the primary schools, and has in action each week 129 teams, an average of 12.9 teams per grade, representing 1806 players minimum.

Soccer has but two grades in each section in action each week. 123 teams, an average of 20.5 teams per grade, representing 1476 players minimum.

Considering that Rugby League has spent £500 in providing challenge shields, gives footballs, referees, and season tickets to sportmasters and boys as an inducement, Soccer gains in comparison. It is not admitted that Soccer should not act similarly, but, finance is the bar. Those things will come after the record English tour, when one safe investment to be recommended for the profits, is the schools.

No game can afford to neglect them, and it is "on" you, Mr. Player and Mr. Supporter, to think hard and cozen out of your grey matter how you can help to extend the school sphere.

Frequent reference will be made to this subject, as the season progresses. As a start we could help by refereeing some of these games:—Next Wednesday, May 20th, Newtown v Arncliffe, Erskineville Park, 2 p.m.; Bourke Street v Bondi, Centennial Park, 2 p.m.; Glebe v School for Deaf; Balmain v Auburn, two matches, Easton Park, begin 1.30 p.m.; Marrickville v Crown Street, two matches, Primrose Park, begin 1.30 p.m.; Ashfield v Leichhardt, two matches, Algie Park, begin 1.30 p.m.; Hurstville v Tempe, two matches, Hurstville, begin 1.30 p.m.; Neutral Bay v Hornsby, two matches, Cammeray Pk., begin 1.30 p.m.; Dulwich Hill v Arncliffe, Riverside, 2 p.m.; Summer Hill v Bondi, 2.30, Domain No. 2; Glebe v Redfern; Fort Street v Stanmore, 1.30, Domain No. 2.

Dear Friend,—

Re your reply to my first letter, you say suggestions are always welcome. Well, there was no one more pleased at Easton Park than I was to see Canterbury down Balmain, because Balmain has had the "Indian sign" on Canterbury since 1910, and they always seemed to have luck in every game. This time Canterbury had same. What was wrong with the team work? It could have been improved 100 per cent. if J. Herron had made his half-backs feed J. Burns. He was starved right through the match. The only time he did get the ball, three goals were scored from his individual play. Mannal was constantly laying on the backs. He is too slow, and has no force behind his kicking. You say your selection committee has the interest of the club at heart. Well, I suppose they have. What is wanted is a full back in Herron's place, a new centre half in Mannal's place, and a new suitable left. I will tell them they can be replaced. Put a local junior, at right full Tommy Gray, another junior centre half, and Jimmy another ex-junior, at outside that is if Crozier, another is not recovered from his Re your offer for me along to your meeting. It was rather strange to me before the commencement of the present season every old and supporter received a letter by letter to come and help or join the club themselves. After being connected with Canterbury Club since 1910 the exception of 1914 till now I think it rather strange to me to come along now.

I might also state that through my organisation Canterbury was re-elected in 1918.

Yours faithfully,

E. BANNISTER

Rally at the Sydney Cricket Ground on Friday May 29, to welcome our kinsmen from England. Tickets 1/-. The public invited.

THE BRIGHT FUTURE OF SOCCER.

Public interest is greater than ever this season, and gate money records give promise of smashing all previous attainments into smithereens. It is confidently anticipated that the Englishmen will give the game such a boost that the position of the code which holds premier position in Sydney to-day will be seriously menaced. Sydney sports are keen judges of merit and delight to witness young, active and quick-witted exponents in action. Thus Soccer officials can view the future with unanimity.

Mr. T. A. Langridge, who has been appointed to train the teams representing the C.F.A., N.S.W. and M.S.F.A., this season to meet the Englishmen, is opening two new training classes next week. On Tuesday night, at 8.15 p.m., and Thursday night, at 8.15 p.m., Club Secretaries and players should see Mr. Langridge personally if they require ideal training facilities at low rates. Only a limited number of players are required to complete these classes. All other classes are already filled. The address is Langridge School of Physical Culture, 380 George Street, Sydney.

Protestant Churches Association

Alex. Mission A and Holy Trinity A are now leading with 4 points each. Drum. Bap. held the Mission till lemon time, but after that broke up. Goalie Moulton, Deprey, and Roberts played well. Austens and Trinity match was a good even go until the rain came. The heavier team never looked like losing. Unless the Hillers Point boys bring corner kicks, the winning of matches will not be of much avail. Gorman and Ridge defended well.

Saints A were lucky to get a goal by the odd goal in three. Their forward line played well, but were not fed by the half backs. Their backs are worse than the halves. Brunker was the best man on the day. The black and white forwards depend much on individual play. Pyramont Congs. and St. Johns Bal. A played an even game—1—1.

Hillville Bap. had a great win at the expense of Concord Meth. The team lacks confidence. Go down to the ground prepared to win and see the difference. Hurlstone Park Congs. have to thank their backs that Lakemba Congs. did not do better than they did.

Tempe Park Meth. look dangerous this year with 2 wins to their credit. Lang was the pick of the team. It is understood there is internal trouble in this team. Cut it out at once, boys, or it will end up nowhere. Whatever you do, don't lose Secretary Crockett.

Campsie Meth. A had a big victory again, 6—0. Judging by appearances, management made a mistake in grading this team to second grade. In future it is hoped the grading committee will have more sense. After a good and clean game St. Barts won 2—0.

Botany Meth. A had a run away victory, 9—0. Leichhardt Meth. deserved to register a defeat last week. With the Croydon team one up, they failed to convert a penalty.

ES. Jones and Fender were always in the picture on Wardell Park. St. Stephens have caused a bit of trouble for Eagleson for manner in 10 minutes he saved them from the on-coming of St. Aidans A. Aidans showed good team work among the forwards, but the forwards were inclined to be greedy.

Bad shooting alone was responsible for Annandale Meth. only drawing with St. Bede. Geake and Nicholas were in the lime-light. Flinn and Jolliff are a great pair of backs. St. Thomas A will—with their help—go a long way.

As predicted, St. James and Botany Presb. drew, 1—1, the scores being a true reflex of the game. W. Roberts wants to learn to speak "sotto voce" on the field, or he'll be speaking from the line. Hurlstone Park Meth. had an easy win, 3—0. Botany Meth. had an easy win, 3—0. Botany Meth. B were very lucky to towell Campsie Meth. B. Seven minutes from full time there was no score. The defences of both teams were good.

TO-DAY'S MATCHES.

To-day, at Botany, we will field our first rep. team of the season against Kearsley F.C. In 1922 we first met this combination on Leichhardt Oval and drew 2—2. The return match was played at Kearsley last year, when the Churches were towelled 6—1. To-day a fairly representative team has been selected, considering that the selectors have only seen the teams in action for two weeks. Park, Killish, the Heywards, Wallace, have all represented before, so there should be no stage fright. The Churches hope to win—but so does Kearsley. Mr. Referee Scott, Hon. Secretary of the P.C.R. Association, will have charge of the game.

After the match the visitors will be entertained with a dinner at Botany, followed by an evening at the Grand Opera House. Messrs. E. Meyers and W. Warren will look after the Churches' interest at Botany and during the evening.

Messrs. R. H. Henry, R. A. Byrdie, and E. Meyers will meet the visitors on arrival. After breakfast they will be shown over Parliament House and the N.S.W. Sports Club.

* * * *

A great match should be staged on Cooks Park No. 1, at 1.45. Honors even appear to be a fair result, though the Tempe boys are very flushed with recent victories. Hurlstone Park Congs. and Marrickville Pres. A should run out victors. Central Concord Meth. will have a chance of redeeming themselves against Canterbury Meth., but its only a chance.

Campsie Meth. A should have an easy win, though it is not expected that the margin will be too big. Botany Meth. A will need to be all out to add another two points to their score.

St. Aidans A and Leichhardt Meth. will be interesting. It is thought that the Blue and White boys will get home.

Both Souls and St. Johns Glebe have a long journey to make, and one will register a defeat. Souls expect to win.

St. Thomas A, Austens Jnrs. and St. Bedes should all add to their score.

Botany Presb. and Botany Meth. should provide a close game. Probably by sheer weight Campsie Meth. B will account for their Congregational contemporaries. Hurlstone Park Meth. should easily account for St. James.

ST. SILAS.

This team has not yet touched the leather this season. To-day they are engaged in the final of the cricket, and the P.C.S.F.A. wishes them every success.

13th JUNE.

Teams should note the above date, and keep it vacant. It is a month hence, and no team can say they haven't had sufficient notice. We'll tell you in the next issue what's on.

29th MAY.

By post to-day all team secretaries should receive two tickets for the public reception to be given to the English team in the Sydney Town Hall on 29th inst. The money for sale of same should be forwarded not later than 25th May to Mr. R. H. Henry, from whom further supplies may be obtained.

LOST FOOTBALL PUMP.

Will the player from Alexandria F.C. (M.J.S.F. Association, under 18) please return the pump he borrowed at Boralee Park, last week.

Eastern Suburbs have secured the use of Waverley Oval for May 23.

SOCCER MILESTONES.

English Hospitality : N.S.W.
 Englishmen : Justified
 Optimism : A Poor
 Northern "Sport."

(By Sillicus).

John Lewis, the manager of the English team, is delighted at the reception accorded the players at Perth. Australian hospitality is proverbial, so this is not to be wondered at. In the capital city of the Commonwealth, well-organised preparations are being finalised by enthusiastic officials, so that our players are assured of a real Aussie welcome wherever their happy lot to be located.

A stage is being set for the match at the Agricultural Ground on May 30, when there is expected to be a big gathering of the sporting public.

Within the realms of possibility that New South Wales will prove the "dark horse" of the match. Did not the New South Wales team vanquish the New Zealanders who afterwards won the test games? So we give the Englishmen the benefit of the doubt though they be, the masters of their lives?

There is justification for optimism, which is quite natural. Faint heart never won a lady of International Plannings and preparations of the clubs of Sydney, New South Coast will enable the players to take the field in the glow of physical health. The advice imparted by experienced players will do much towards bringing our standard of play somewhat approaching that of the champions of England.

Players have been advised by a northern man to sit tight and let Newcastle represent the State. This seems the correct spirit to instill into the public mind, and so much to antagonise the respective areas. It is essential to success to boast of victories is the spirit of a true sport. No one begrudges the fine West Wallsend its three wins in the State championship—we admire their capital play, and extend to them our congratulations. But, of course, we know "Podge" Maunder and his merry men are not in accord with the warped mind which conceived this idea.

Quite likely the result of the match on May 30 will send all reckonings sky high, but the outlook, as far as can be estimated from Sydney premiership game form—after an unsound basis—is highly satisfactory. If the influence of the home ground and local support is as potent as in club matches, however, and form be anything approaching normal, the game should produce a dazzling display of Soccer, with the Englishmen employing all their craftsmanship to circumvent the fast-moving, virile youths of New South Wales. May the New South Welshmen succeed, and may their individual triumph be such as to enhance the reputation of Australians in sport. No one would be better pleased than England's grand old Soccer man, John Lewis, if Australia broke the power of England by sheer merit.

REFEREES' INSTRUCTIONS.

Where early games are played, they must commence at 1.45 p.m., the duration of the game to be 40 minutes each way, with interval of five minutes. In the event of match starting late, time to be divided equally so that game concludes at 3.15 p.m. The late match must start punctually at 3.20 p.m. Under no circumstances must these instructions be departed from, unless notification is received officially from the Management Committee.

DISQUALIFIED!

The whole of the players and officials of the St. George Junior Association have been disqualified by the Metropolitan Association owing to the refusal of the junior organisation to comply with the constitution of the governing body respecting affiliation with the St. George District Club. Owing to pressure on space, details are withheld until next week's issue.

SOCCER REFEREES.

CALL TO OLD PLAYERS.

The shortage of referees in the metropolis is insistently heard. The appeal to players who are giving up the game to try refereeing usually fall on deaf ears. It is remarkable that very few players take up the whistle upon retirement from active participation on the field.

The call is not likely to be heeded when these old players are given cause to believe that they may expect little consideration from a crowd if their decisions do not give favor, little or no support from a club when they carry out their duty and adverse criticism from their own fellows.

Referees have one of the best opportunities they are ever likely to get to assert their position, and if they do not care to take it their right to sympathy will slump badly.

Increased fees alone will not make proficient referees, or even induce new men to take up the work. What is required is support in the deserved action of taking steps to turn offensive "barrackers" out of the ground. This element is noticeable in many of the games this season. The only way to become a popular referee would seem to be taking the line of least resistance and always give the club with the preponderance of "barrackers" the benefit of a doubt. Of course, there is a great deal of unsuspected sympathy with a hard-working body of men who generally come in for a heap of adverse remarks.

A game with a team drawn from the American Fleet, on the occasion of its visit to Sydney, will probably be arranged for July 25th. Only First and Second Grade games will be postponed on this date.

The Agricultural Ground will be the venue of all the English team games. On May 30, June 8, July 4 and July 18, all matches, including Juniors, will be postponed in the Metropolitan.

It is expected that the first round of State Championship games will be played in Sydney on June 13 or June 20.

ST. GEORGE DISTRICT CLUB.

(By A.B.M.)

St. George had considerably the best of the game in the first half with Balmain, but failed to beat down the defence of Simmons, who kept goal in brilliant style. The most dangerous players of St. George were Hayes, Graham and Lavender; they were a splendid forward trio, and many times beat Storey, Gallen and Driscoll.

Melliard-Smith was not as effective as usual. Glachen was not at his best. If the left wing had combined as good as the right wing, no doubt St. George would have been successful in scoring. It was Jelfs that broke up the combination of Glachen and Melliard-Smith.

Picken and Chiswell were weak in the half-back division; both players seemed to weaken considerably towards the end of the game.

Murray and Smart improved considerably, and played a particularly good defensive game, but it was the wing halves who let them down. Tranter played his usual effective game, his timing and placing the ball to his forwards being splendid.

Evans was at his best in goal, and the two shots that beat him were impossible for any goalkeeper, to save, more particularly owing to the heavy downpour of rain. The referee, however, disallowed a goal by Graham owing to Glachen being in an offside position. It looked a good goal. If this goal had been allowed it may have made a difference to the result.

For Balmain, Jelfs, Baxter, McLeod and Hancock were the most effective players. Gallen and Driscoll were far from their best in the first half, but in the second half played a particularly good game.

Gil. Storey and Jelfs were the best halves. Joe Fisher failed to put in an appearance, but Jelfs made a good substitute, and was instrumental in scoring one goal, and assisted McLeod with the second.

Simmons played a brilliant game in goal, and saved shots from all angles; he was only beaten upon one occasion, when the off-side goal scored by Graham.

Second Grade Team.

It is very unfortunate that there is no co-operation between the District Club and the Association. Considering there are over 500 players playing the game in the St. George District, it seems strange that it is impossible to raise a second grade team. The District Club had a reserve team last season, and they should have taken this team as their Second Grade eleven this season. They were a fine lot of young players, and the making of a good football team. The District Club could have gradually added to this team and success would have been assured. Instead of giving the boys the opportunity of better class football, they were discarded.

Consequently they were compelled to enter the St. George Association First League competition. This team did exceedingly well last season, finishing fourth in place, and this season they are playing good football, and compare favorably with any Second Grade team. The question is, if the District Club Committee cannot raise a second grade team—it is not impossible—a new committee should be appointed to raise one. The only saying is "If you don't succeed at first try try again."
